NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO MOTHERS.
In a country where the rearing of infants is attended with somewhat exceptional difficulties and risk, owing partly to climatic reasons, and partly to the difficulty of getting medical assistance in the "camp," an apology is hardly needed for publishing a small hand-book on the subject for the use of mothers. In Dr. Fennell's book on Infant Feeding an attempt has been made to explain in simple terms the reasons on which the various rules and recommendations are based, in order that a mother in modifying her child's diet from time to time as required, may be guided by common sense and not by the hundred and one conflicting counsels, with which she will be assailed. On sale at all bookstalls and libraries.

England persists in claiming arbitration on the question of the possession of Trinidad Island.

The House of Commons approved today the speech from the throne in its original form.

A motion brought forward by an Irish member asking for a reference to be made to Home Rule was thrown out.

A telegram from Brisbane announces the loss of a passenger ferry-boat, 40 persons being down.

Italy

Rome, 13th.—The political situation of this country is getting very black. Premier Crispi will convoke Parliament for the 5th of March instead of in June, because Saracco, the Minister of Public Works, threatened to resign if the enormous sums to be spent in continuing the Abyssinian campaign are not first submitted to Parliament.

A tempest burst over the north of the Adriatic Sea this morning. It did much damage at Venice, and it is feared that there have been many shipping disasters.
It is denied that Menelick has been proclaimed Emperor of Abyssinia.

Germany

Berlin, 13th.—The papers here and in all the large cities of Germany: referring to the Queen's speech and the increase in the British navy, say that Germany's fleet must also be increased, as all the Great Powers are building new war vessels.

The debate on the estimates for the Foreign Office began to-day in the Reichstag. Baron Marshal von Biberstein declared that Germany desired to maintain the status-quo in the Transvaal and would brook no interference by a foreign power in the Home affairs of that Republic. This statement was accorded great applause.

Signor Crispi received to-day from General Baratieri a telegram categorically denying that he had granted any interview to a newspaper reporter. The war-correspondent of the Don Marzio of Naples had attributed to the General certain phrases in reference to the Cabinet—hence the inquiry made the Prime Minister.

General Baratieri's reply is presumed to have been delay by faulty telegraphic communication between Massauah and the headquarters of the army.

France

Paris, 13th.—Telegrams from Christiana announce that explorer Nansen has arrived at the North Pole. He will bring back a great deal of scientific data.

The Chamber of Deputies passed to-day by 326 to 43 a vote of confidence in the Bourgeois Cabinet with respect to its action in the Southern Railway prosecution, which the day before yesterday had met with a vote of censure from the Senate.
M. Ricard the Minister of Justice defended its procedure. The House though expressing its confidence in the perfect integrity of the Government yet recorded their desire that every light should be thrown by the Ministry on the conduct of the case. It now remains to be seen what the Senate will do in the face of this rebuff.

Spain

Madrid, 13th.—Señor Montargo has been appointed Mayor of this Capital, vice Penalver resigned.

The troops leaving for Cuba continue to be accorded popular ovations.

Belgium

Brussels, 13th.—M. de Burel is about to resign the premiership on account of ill-health, but will retain charge of the Foreign Office. Who will replace him, is not yet known.

Bulgaria

Sofia, 13th.—The delegate from the Emperor Nicolas sent to represent him at the baptism of Prince Boris, arrived here to-day and was enthusiastically cheered by the populace.

Brazil

Rio, 13th.—The Commander of the Italian cruiser Lombardia is worse. It is feared that he will die, as the attack of yellow fever from which he is suffering is a very bad one.

The public subscription for the Municipal loan was opened with the greatest success. Double the amount of capital was subscribed.

The rumours about Minister Godoy's mission have been confirmed by the Journal
do Brazil.

Thirty three cases of yellow fever occurred yesterday.

Exchange on London is quoted at 91/32d.

Chile

Valparaiso, 13th.—Exchange on London is quoted at 17%.

Three colonels will be promoted to Generals of Brigade in order to command the National Guards.

It appears that all the officers and soldiers who fought during the war in 1890 will be called to arms again with the rank they held during that strife.

cave by the soldiers, and had been pierced with bullets in five or six places, and covered with cuts on their heads, arms, hands, and legs, and had lain for some seven hours in their blood, were brought to the Mission houses. Their wounds were sewed up, dressed and bandaged by a young lady belonging to the Mission, but one of the men died at midnight, while the other survived.

The massacre in the city was fearful beyond words to express. The Christian quarters, covering a large area, were burned. Two Gregorian Armenian churches were burned, and in one of them the women and children who had sought refuge there had perished in the flames. The second and third Evangelical churches were looted of rugs, mats, and organs; the pulpits, windows, and doors were carried away, and the inside of the building was cut to pieces. These churches also would not doubt have been burned but for their proximity to Moslem dwellings. The venerable pastor of the native church connected with the Church of England, after suffering torture, was killed. The two head teachers of the American Academy, one of whom was acting-pastor of the First Evangelical Church, were killed, and one of them was flayed alive and then cut to pieces. In all, some 800 Armenians, to whom generally the alternative of Islam or death was given, were most cruelly slain. Children were disembowelled, and the dismembered heads of men and women were kicked about by the soldiers as balls, or were carried on pikes through the streets. An educated young lady, a teacher, saw from the windows of an adjacent house, her mother, grandfather, grandmother, and uncle with his six-year-old daughter murdered, their house set on fire, and their bodies left to be devoured by the flames. A wife with four young children saw her husband killed, and the home they had built with so much hope and pride destroyed by fire. In one family nine persons, mostly women, were wounded, one man was killed, five were seized and thrown into prison, and the home was utterly plundered. This dire work of murdering, robbing and burning was done, not by Kurds, but by the regular troops of the Ottoman Government, assisted by the Moslem population of the city. And here, as in so many other places, the Armenians were utterly passive victims, with no arms or possible means of self-defence. So far as is known, not a Turk was hurt in all the eight hours' carnage.

The survivors are now in a state of most dreadful destitution. With husbands, fathers, and sons slain, shops plundered, houses burned, the survivors of many a family, once in comfortable circumstances, have not so much as a drinking cup left. In many cases the cold north winds blowing from the snow-clad Taurus will soon complete the work of destruction which the Turks began. Even now the prisons are filled with innocent Armenians, who are most rigorously treated, among whom are physicians and merchants, and the pastors of the Second and Third Evangelical Churches. One of the prisoners was recently whipped almost to death, and succumbed after he had received three hundred lashes, signed a lying paper which the Turks had prepared, and which accused many leading Armenians of revolutionary designs. The wretched survivors are paralysed with fear, lest the Turks encouraged by the apathy of the Christian nations, may again begin the slaughter. Let England, who annulled the Treaty of San Stefano, and in the place of Russia made herself and the other European Powers the protectors of the Armenians, imagine, if she can, the present condition of the survivors. In the presence of the tears and groans and prayers of the shivering widows and orphans sitting in the ashes of their ruined homes, who is the man that dares apologise for the Turkish authorities and plead in justification the lying reports which those authorities send abroad.

The slaughter of the 50,000 Christians (some 20,000 in the single province of Kharpout), the apostasy under the threat of instant death of other thousands, and the utter impoverishment of some hundreds of thousands—such is the contribution which his Majesty the Sultan has recently made to the solution of the Armenian question. Such is the preparation which his Majesty is making, preliminary to the fulfilment of his promise to Lord Salisbury, on his honour, to carry out the scheme of reforms.

Such is the state into which England, by her initiative in elaborating and insisting on reforms, has plunged the Armenians. No one can doubt her good intentions; but these having been thwarted by the conduct of Turkey, it remains to be seen whether she is prepared to leave those whom she wished to protect to be murdered, robbed, and martyred.

The old story! Professor Roentgen, whose process for photographing the inside of humanity has startled the whole world, turns out, after all, to have merely picked another man's brains. It is now stated that, in the year 1894, a Hungarian professor, Philip Lenard, who completed his studies in Germany, succeeded in photographing objects in this way. He published an illustrated account of his experiments in Foggenbilder und Chemismus der Physik, and is at present at the University of Stuttgart.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

THINGS IN GENERAL.

(From our own Correspondent)

January 17th.

In our present humour it is an effort to think of anything but politics. Indeed there is little else to speak about. One can say that the notorious Jane Cakobread has found a friend in Lady Henry Somerset, and instead of being a common inmate for which she has suffered endless imprisonment, it appears that Jane is a poor lunatic whom a mere drop of alcohol maddens. She, like the boy Gamble, who is supposed to have murdered one child in Islington and has attempted to murder another, has been detained during Her Majesty's pleasure. The only other common topic is Kitty Loftus, who put up her little back because she was required to play the part of a girl in "Robinson Crusoe," when, as she says, she engaged to play a boy's part. The manager applied for an injunction which he got, and Kitty—Mrs. McCarthy—had to pay the costs. The report of the trial is amusing.

You will have seen a great deal about the photographic discovery made by Professor Röntgen of Würzburg. We have not yet got an intelligible account of it, and it seems to differ only in degree from a similar discovery made two years ago by Professor Philip Lenard, a young Hungarian, now at the University of Stuttgart, who in 1894 succeeded in photographing coins and other objects inside a box, that is to say in the dark, by means of electrical invisible rays. What Röntgen has discovered is that the light of one of Crooke's high vacuum tubes will penetrate a wooden or card-board sufficiently to act upon a photographic plate inside it. The luminous rays from a Crooke's tube behave like the invisible rays of the cathode, and penetrate wood, paper, flesh, etc. They do not penetrate metal or bone. So that if a woman were photographed by this process she would appear as a skeleton with whatever jewelry she might be wearing. Röntgen took a silhouette of his own hand which showed only the bones and the rings on the fingers. He calls the rays from the Crooke's tube X rays, because their properties are not yet known. The discovery has set all photographers working out experiments, and may ultimately prove of great value. At present we know little about it. We had been told before that certain waves of ether were not refracted in water, glass, prisms, etc., and that they passed through objects opaque to ordinary light. Surgeons will be able to see a calculus and certainly a bullet in a man's body. Snap shots in the future might become very awkward and even ethically revolutionising if waves of ether were discovered that penetrated cloth, silk, cotton and woolen goods, but not other substances, neither bone, nor metal, of such is the kingdom of science.

I dare say you think we have a lot to write about. Were you to see our telegrams from the Transvaal you would know better. This is the 16th or 17th day since Jameson's defeat, and we do not yet know how many men he had with him or the exact number of the killed and wounded. Early accounts were all wrong. The number of killed appears to be only 19. Truth puts the number of Jameson's men at 800. The tightest estimate I had seen was 700; and to-night a telegram says 480. Truth thinks that after all the Boers must be very bad shots. Standing 2,000 of them behind rocks and trees, for six hours they fired into our fellows in the open. Truth calculates that their kills were only two in an hour and one kill to 60,000 shots.

The jingo strain in the Tory Government which has lately been so whole-somely cowed, has begun to show itself again. Amongst footballers and music-hallers, turrites, and the Rhodes gang in London society expects it and passes it over without notice, although when Mr. Rhodes arrives here in a few days we may expect a general break-out of jingoism in the Unionist or rather the Tory papers. If Lord Salisbury, in addition to his other virtues, is going to turn out a swaggerer, we may look out for trouble. Even mild Mr. Balfour's speech while praising Mr. Chamberlain and faintly reproving Jameson's folly, has giving offence both on the continent and to that great personage, Mr. Blokland, the Representative in Europe of the Transvaal.

Mr. Balfour's characterisation of the Boer Government as "artificial and inequitable," mild as the language is, gives offence. His exonerating of Jameson and his officers from "sordid motives" may have been equally offensive to Mr. Blokland if it be true as reported that the Rhodes gang had been long hatching a conspiracy to seize Johannesburg to restore the financial condition of the Chartered Company. As Mr. Labouchere in this week's Truth flays accuses the Duke of Fife and the London gang of knowing all about it, either Mr. Balfour must be very innocent or very injudicious, or he is the mere mouth-piece of his swaggering uncle who, like Mr.

Oecil Rhodes, to use his own words, intends "to face the music." Certain timid but critical references to the action of Mr. Chamberlain and of Sir Hercules Robinson in little Tory papers rather confirm the suspicion that the aristocratic gang of gold-gamblers, and perhaps a military and naval clique, are egging Lord Salisbury towards a dangerous policy, and one that will at least cancel the good effect of the Government's action since Jameson's raid, which President Kruger called "shameful." We shall see when Rhodes arrives. He says when we know all we shall alter our opinions.

A German professor, as you will know, has been writing a history, and in his scathing delineation of the character of Caligula he gives a portrait of the present German Emperor. "Der junge mann" may not be so bad as he is painted, but he certainly does not get on well with his own relatives. As Truth informs us, Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia are passing the winter at Naples in consequence of the differences that have arisen between the Emperor William and his brother; and now there is a bitter quarrel between His Majesty and his cousin and brother-in-law Prince Frederick Leopold (the brother of the Duchess of Connaught) who is believed to be by far the richest member of the Hohenzollern family. The offence of the Princess Leopold was skating on ice that the public had been warned off by the Potsdam authorities, and getting in consequence a sousing, besides being nearly drowned. The Emperor by telegram sent a furious reprimand which Prince Leopold so strongly resented in a subsequent interview with his sovereign that he was there and then put under arrest in his house at Gleichenice and guarded by sentries for some days. Since then, the Empress intimated that she was coming to see her sister. The Princess Leopold sent a message to say she was not well enough to receive visitors. The Prince and Princess Frederick Leopold are now preparing to visit Egypt and will pass the summer in Italy.

IRELAND.

THE LATE PRIMATE.

M. P. AND A PUBLIC FLOGGING.

DAVITT AND JUSTIN MACARTHY.

WILLIAM O'BRIEN'S ADVICE.

January, 18th/96.

The funeral obsequies of the late Primate of All Ireland were marked yesterday by every demonstration of respect on the part of all classes of the community at Armagh and Cork, Roman Catholics competing with Protestants in generous esteem for Archbishop Gregg. Though the actual interment took place at Cork, in the cathedral burying ground, where his father and so many of his relatives are also laid to rest, the main portion of the Burial Service was said in Armagh Cathedral at an earlier period of the day.

It seems, precedents be followed, the course taken towards filling up the vacant Primacy will be rather a complicated one. To begin with, a bishop—not an archbishop—has to be elected for the diocese of Armagh. Then a Primate of All Ireland is elected, usually from among the members of the existing bench. And naturally the senior bishop, the newly-elected bishop immediately exchanging. On this occasion, however, we may witness a variation from precedent. Failing the translation of the Bishop of Derry, which would be warmly welcomed, it is almost certain that the learned Provost of Trinity College (Dr. Salmon) will be elected, in which case the Irish bishops will repeat their undertaking of 1895, also to appoint him to the Primacy. Of course, Dr. Salmon's own desires are not yet known.

"An aggressive Briton named Douglas's—so the Dublin Evening Herald announces, has sent the following letter to Mr. P. O'Brien, M.P.:

Str.—I always thought that Irish Home Rulers were very dispassionate, but I never imagined that Ireland could produce two such blackguardly traitors as you two. At this critical time, when England is besieged on all sides with difficulties, you think it right to spend your time in making speeches against the British Empire and applauding the boyish tricks of a foreign sovereign, besides slandering our Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria. I have just been reading an account of that meeting in Dublin the other night. All that you and Tim Harrington said was the most idiotic rot that a fool like you ever gave utterance to. For the cheers which you, Pat O'Brien, proposed you ought to be publicly flogged—I remain yours ever hatefully,

To Tim Harrington, M. P. for Dublin.
Pat O'Brien, late M. P. for Tipperary.

R. Vaughan Douglas.
Whereof the following reply has been sent—

National Club, Dublin, January 19, 1896.
Mr. Pat O'Brien (present M. P. for Kilkeny) presents his compliments to Mr. R. Vaughan Douglas, and, having seen his letter, so characteristic of British brag-gadoocio and impertinence, begs to acquaint the writer that, if he desires personally to undertake the public flogging he suggests he shall be afforded an opportunity of trying his hand any day he wishes to call at the above address.

We understand there is no truth in the statement that the invitation has been accepted.

The Irish Catholic, referring to Mr. Davitt's suggestion to appoint some new men in the Nationalist ranks, or even from outside the Nationalist ranks, as chairman and vice-chairman of the party, says:—"Unless some better plan is proposed, we are cordially ready to support Mr. Davitt. What is wanted is union, and some man or principle which would enable our scattered atoms to close up and re-form against the common enemy. Many sacrifices must be made all round if the movement is to be lifted out of the rut in the present generation. The state of England's foreign relations undoubtedly gives Irishmen a common ground hitherto absent for coming together upon."

In a letter to Mr. Justin McCarthy, M. P., Mr. Arthur O'Connor, M. P., strongly denies that he ever favoured the idea of an Irish member accepting a salaried post under the British Government. "You know that on that point there was no want of unanimity at all, and that the only point on which there could be said to be any difference of view was the purely technical one of whether the post of Chairman of Committees was a Government appointment or one domestic and peculiar to the House itself. There never was, and I am convinced that you know it very well, any question of a Nationalist member accepting anything from the British Government. The original suggestion was one which involved opposition to the Government, and it was not entertained by me any more than by yourself. But it was made to me in confidence. After the lapse of several years the incident, distorted and misrepresented, is used in an attempt to traduce me to my own constituents, and you, you of all men, are found ready to countenance the slander. Oh, Justin, Justin! Is this, then, a sample of your ideas about loyalty to colleagues, and unity, and truth? My ideas are different."

Mr. William O'Brien made a striking and significant speech—reminiscent of the stirring days of a decade or so ago—at the annual reunion of natives of Tyrone residing in Glasgow, last night. He said the Irish had examples of how nations won their freedom. The gallant Boers of the Transvaal did not split into sections when the enemy were at their gates. They did not attack one another but they attacked the invaders of their territory, and they thrashed them within an inch of their lives. Let the Irish have no further recrimination as to what was past and gone. There was absolute unanimity amongst all sections of Irishmen as to their policy for the future. They all agreed that the Irish Party should belong to Ireland alone, free and independent of all English Parties in every shape. Having done all they could for conciliation, and being willing to do it still, the business of the Irish Party was hitherto to show their teeth and to use every weapon that circumstances placed in their hands to show England that she could have no happiness, no peace, and no real security for the empire until the national demands of Ireland were conceded.

THE FLYING SQUADRON.

The sailors stricken down with typhoid fever on board the 9 de Julio were landed yesterday afternoon, and taken to the lazaretto at Martin Garcia. Colonel Barilari received orders not to allow any of his crew to land. It is expected that the squadron will be able to leave for New Gulf this afternoon, after receiving the necessary coal and provisions. The 9 de Julio and Patria will probably remain in port for another 48 hours, until properly disinfected they will then join the rest of the squadron on its way down South. Commander Barilari has sent a private communication to Colonel Garcia, but the contents of this important document are kept in the greatest reserve. It is useless to try and surmise anything until the return of Colonel Garcia, when the whole state of affairs will be made known. This much we can say: the return of the fleet has created surprise and not a little wonder in all circles. We are inclined to believe that there must be some much stronger reason than mere sickness which led Commander Barilari to suddenly appear in the River Plate with the whole squadron at his back. Why did he not put all the sick men on board the Patria (which could have arrived here in less than 48 hours)? The patients would receive every attention, and the Patria could return and join the fleet in another 48 hours.

The Minister of War is anything but satisfied and he will call those responsible severe account for disobeying orders, because this is, in plain words what has been done.

The excuse that typhoid fever threatened to decimate the crew is not and could not be a sufficient warrant for the return. Could the vessels have run short of provisions? Commander Barilari evidently acted on the spur of the moment. For the sake of Commander Barilari's good name, his reputation as one of Argentina's prominent naval men, and lastly for the sake of the good name of the Argentine Navy, we firmly believe that Commander Barilari will fully justify his conduct before the proper authorities.

An evening colleague confirms our suspicion about the real reason for the squadron returning from Golfo Nuevo. The reason assigned is:—

The provisions gave out. Who is to blame for this scandalous neglect? The Commissariat Department naturally. Is this important branch of that powerful machine the navy so deficient? Are there no capable heads, certain of being able to supply the fleet with the necessary provisions for a cruise the duration of which had previously been fixed?

Either, the provisions supplied were not sufficient to last for the cruise, or Commander Barilari gave his men extra rations. Both suppositions appear to us impossible.

What a bad end to such a fine beginning.....

THE BUENOS AIRES CHORAL UNION.

Buenos Aires, Feb. 13, 1896.

To the Editor of THE STANDARD.

Dear Sir,
Your very kind and flattering comments upon the annual report of this Society in your issue of to-day, and your ever lively interest in, and congratulatory comments upon its productions, are more than worthy of the high appreciation in which your good opinion is held by all connected with the Society's executive. I would, however, venture to ask you to allow me to say one word upon your leader in to-day's paper, which in the warmth of its zeal and the manner of its advice to your readers to join the Society, might produce the impression that we exist principally for money getting, which, if it were entertained, would be a most erroneous idea.

It is true that the brilliant success of last year enables the Committee (not "a section" of it, but the Committee unanimously) to act more generously to the members of the Society in the way of free admission tickets, etc., than has hitherto been possible. But the object of the Society is not to get money and accumulate shares and properties (nor is it desirable that members should join it with a view to sharing in any such accumulation), but the sole aim of the Committee, as representing the members, is—to give to the members and to the English speaking residents of this great city generally, opportunities for the production and enjoyment of thoroughly good musical entertainments, whether in the form of oratorios, operas or otherwise, and if, in carrying out this object, money in excess of the requirements of the Society is obtained, its possession will still further increase the ability of the Society to administer more fully to the necessities of the community in the matter of musical entertainments.

I remain,
Yours truly,
C. Mackern,
Vice President.

THE TRANSVAAL NATIONAL ANTHEM.

Below we give the National Anthem of the Transvaal Boer Republic. The original was written in the South African Boer dialect by Mr. S. J. du Toit, a highly educated native of South Africa, and it was set to music by Mr. J. S. de Villiers, also of South Africa, both gentlemen being of French Huguenot extraction. Our gifted contributor, Mr. Hermann Røpe has turned the words into English, and, on looking over the original and comparing it with Mr. Røpe's translation, we are almost inclined to think that the latter is an improvement on the original. But this is just like everything else our friend touches. The Boer Anthem, by being translated, has suffered a sea-change into something strange and wonderful. Here it is:—

Four-coloured flag of our dear land
Wave proudly o'er Transvaal;
And we be to the traitor's hand,
That tries to make thee fall!
That tries to make thee fall!
Wave gaily from your giddy height,
In freedom's bold array;
Our enemies we've put to flight,
Now dawn a brighter day.
In stormy times you were our pride,
And we stood by you true;
Now, when the clouds have rolled aside,
We'll rally under you.
When Kaiser, Briton, Lion tried,
They could not have their will;
But when in anger you are spied,
We'll hoist you higher still.
Wave proudly from your giddy height,
In freedom's bold array!
Our enemies we've put to flight,
Now dawn a brighter day.
Four-coloured flag of our dear land,
Wave proudly o'er Transvaal!
And we be to the traitor's hand,
That tries to make thee fall!

SPORT

If the U. I. T., like the gold tub, had a bottom, that fundamental structure would have collapsed completely yesterday, when the crack bat and official wicket-keeper (the man by the way in charge of the key to the patent-break) sent in a very reluctant resignation. "Can't play," he says, "going outside." As he was the heart and soul and back-bone and kidneys and condensed vital organs of the team, his loss is sickening. Like the man that Mark Twain embodied in history, who was mayor and blacksmith and baker and tax collector of a budding western city, and whose demise would have been a municipal calamity, the absence of our wicket-keeper has struck us clean amidstships, floored, annihilated us. Desolation is a poor word to express its intensity. Shipwrecked and hopeless, we know not where to turn to, and but for the solemnity of the compromise we should fold up our tents like the Arabs and steal silently away. We cannot, however, break faith with or play second fiddle to a horde of revving Bedouins. The whole fabric of the colossal structure on which our fame is based would be shattered to the core if we gave in without a struggle, so that even if we have to fight for eleven and eat and drink for 22, the old gold and mahogany, with its unobscured badge, will be floated on Sunday. Whether it will be half-masted or not remains to be seen, though it does look uncommonly like it. The outlook is about as unpromising as it could be. Pictures of Banquo's ghost and Tim Finnegan's wake would be anaesthetic creations alongside the gloom that over-spread the committee yesterday when the chances were swung around and weighed and pulled to pieces and reconstructed. As against resources, we hear that the secretary is in treaty with the unspeakable Turk that wears the belt for draft-playing, and he has promised to lend a hand if there is any place to fill. But our reliance is now on the Empire. If he fails us, then the last plank goes.

P. S. Looks as if the dead rot had set in. Extra change bowler has declared off. Nobody but the umpire left, sure. All the special reserves and volunteers ordered up and reorganization going on at a feverish rate. Apprehensions general that the contagion may spread to the North and South, and the Canterbury week fall through completely. Spoofery was tried yesterday, but the old evil may break out at any moment. Crisis and deadlock and choke-up imminent.

There will be an extraordinary general meeting of the Leams Athletic Club on Friday the 14th at 8 p.m., in the office of Sick Fund Society, Plaza Constitution.

HURLEIGH RACES.

We are glad to learn that the programme for the meeting to be held on Wednesday next has filled better than for a long time back, which shows that the interest in this line is reviving—a healthy sign. The entries for the welcome Handicap will not close till this evening, which will give an opportunity for securing more candidates, as this is a stake for any horse (and their name is legion) that has not won $4,000 under Jockey Club Rules.

CRICKET.

The following gentlemen will represent Banfield Athletic Club in their match on Sunday next, 16th inst., against the Palermo A.C. at Palermo, P.C. Pacifico. Play to commence on the arrival of the 11.30 a.m. train from Central.
Messrs. T. Pollard (Capt.), D. Kingsland, A. Goode, M. Brooks, A. H. Poulton, C. Kelly, E. Abercrombie, G. J. Burbon, H. Kingsland, F. Moore and H. W. Griggs. Reserve—R. Kingsland and J. Kingsland.

The National Railway Board has asked Government for $6,000 to pay for the printing of the Railway statistics of the Republic.

As the Law No. 9366 orders the sale of the Premier Entre-Rios line and all its belongings to the Entre Rios Rly. Co., the Minister of the Interior has ordered the Railway Board to hand the former over to the latter, taking the necessary inventory etc.

THEATRES.

To-morrow night Biondi gives his last performance at the San Martin Theatre, and the Podesta Scotti Company also take their leave. The season has been very successful and their excellent representations of Gaucho life have been greatly appreciated. The performance to-night is set apart for the benefit of José J. Podesta, the leading actor and initiator of these "Dramas Criollos," when for the first, and only time, they will give "Juan Chello." They deserve a very full house, and will doubtless get it.

The ball to be given on the 22nd inst. by the Zither Club at the Swiss Hall in Rodriguez Peña, promises to be a great success. The invitations are now being issued.

At the Skating Rink they are pushing forward the preparations for the six Carnival Balls, and visitors to this well-known place will be astonished at the alterations that have been made. Everything is being done to promote the comfort of the visitors.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Weather hot. New Moon cold but dry. (Leo is wrong about a dripping Carnival). Telegram from the North Pole. Revolution in Corea, and lots of Jappy-Wappies despatched to Buddha's bosom. Same old sing-song from Cuba and Massouah. Gold Eagle still in the doldrums. Not a word worth a Turkish dam from Chile. Conspiracy in Peru to kick out that dubious patriot Pierola. 'Todo-el-mundo' here and all over the country up to his and her eyes in preparations for Carnival. Such was yesterday.

Nothing was spoken of yesterday, but the sudden return of Captain Barilari's squadron, without orders. The most curious rumours were afloat, and the general impression on the public was very bad. The War Minister blames the doctors of the ships for unduly alarming the Commander in chief about the cases of typhoid, and all the learned "medicos" have been ordered under arrest. Twelve cases have been sent to Martin Garcia Lazaretto. One Naval Cadet has died. It is said that the epidemic was brought on board by the cadets of the Naval School, where there were several cases. Some say that the disease sprang from the bad distilled water on board. There are also very queer rumours afloat about the provisions. While the squadron was at New Bay all the manoeuvres were most successful. Twelve landings of sailors and Marines were effected with admirable success. One sailor was drowned by the upsetting of a boat. At Port Madryn a sailor made a football of a bomb he found on the beach. It exploded, but only slightly wounded a sailor in one leg.

We like Philosophy and the Belles Lettres, so, consequently, put an extra squeeze on our space to announce the following appointments to the Chairs of same. The gentlemen named will propose others to complete the number of 15 Academies:—Bartolomé Mitre. B. de Irigoyen, C. Pellegrini, Rafael Obligado, Paul Grusac, Ricardo Gutierrez, L. Anadon, Joaquin V. Gonsalez.

"Surgit amari aliquid" again on the other side of the mighty Andes. It appears that the famous "Hito de San Francisco" has now got two brothers, or sisters, in misfortune, those of Reigolli and Coloco, which have been "mal colocados," and will give further scope to the genius of Barros Arana in turning to his purposes the Boundary muddle, which has degenerated, owing to him, into a farce that is highly likely to end in a tragedy.

There was a general broad grin yesterday at the announcement that the explorer Nansen had reached the North Pole. The telegram omits to say if he found an Italian Opera company performing there. We don't believe a word of the news, for the very simple reason that there is no North Pole to discover. The term Poles is just as geographically conventional as the Grand Old Man considers East and West to be. Nevertheless, we drink Nansen's health in iced water, (because we have nothing better) the most appropriate beverage for the occasion.

We thank Captain Hesketh of the fine steamer Tartar Prince for sending us a batch of late papers from home to 20th ult.

Those interested in school matters in the new parish of Carmen (Devoto, Villa Catalinas, Chas. Modelo, and Estacion Coghlan) are advised that the office for matriculating is now open from 8 to 11 a.m., and from noon to 4 p.m. every day.

There was a sound of revelry yesterday in the Calle Cayo owing to the inauguration of the splendid new offices of Messrs Krabbe and Higgins. We congratulate them on the change and the good taste displayed in all the fittings of their new premises, which lack however the congenial air of cheapness, "baratura" of the STANDARD office.

"Vox populi, vox Dei." No matter what diplomats may say, or how cleverly Birmingham Joe managed to slip like an eel out of the Transvaal muddle, Sir Cecil Rhodes and Dr. Jameson are the men of the day with the English people. The London populace cheered the former like mad last week when he arrived; and on Tuesday, when Dr. Jameson and his fellow "prisoners" reached Suez on their way to England, all the British ships in the harbour cheered them, and even the crew of a man-of-war joined in. As our London correspondent says, John, Pat and Sandy enjoy a little tree-planting now and then.

People are becoming so disgusted with the miserable excuse for a match now pawned off on the public by the highly protected companies who enjoy a monopoly of the trade here, that our old friends Bryant and May, in spite of the monstrous import duties, are forcing their way into the market with little boxes of splendid wax vestas at ten cents each. There are double the number of matches contained in the "del pais" boxes, and each vesta is a little candle, burning for three or four minutes, and giving a lot of light; just the thing for those who don't go home till morning, and sometimes at that hour are liable to confound the respective uses of their latchkey and walking stick, purely through want of light.

Another "novedad" for the coming Carnival is the "pompon guerrillero," a missile that will probably "cut out" comfits, flowers and the serpentine. Anything but the confounded pomito is tolerable. As for water, its day is past we hope, even with the humblest of the population of this "ciudad culta." Those who want seats on the Municipal estrades in Avenida Mayo, must apply at No. 119 in that "Street of the World." The prices are "Palcos" with 6 seats $15; chairs in the first row behind them $5 each, and $2 for the second and third rows. Still further behind, seats on the steps, $1. Everything will be solidly built, to avoid any danger of an accident. The seats provided are more than 5000 in number. Another enterprising firm has started a "comparsa" to be called "La Africana," the members of which will distribute circulars. Messrs. Fournery and Co. of Cangallo 728 must be applied to for terms.

Good news for the National Guards. In the Sunday drilling exercises, which will commence in March this year instead of May, the four hours will be taken off "the top of the morning" instead of the middle of the day, so the citizen warriors will not be deprived of the amusements of the day. The number of volunteers over 20 who want to go with the twenty-year-olds and the Liners for manoeuvres on the plains of Curumalan increases daily, and the young N.G. officers have made a rush for the "academias," to study their profession in earnest, lest they may have to go back to the ranks. This looks like business.

The good and humane Zoos are now working for the suppression of winkers on draught horses, a good move, as it has long been admitted that they greatly weaken a horse's sight and make him more nervous at sudden noises behind or beside him, as he cannot look at the object that frightens him. We are with the Zoos and the horses in this matter; but fear that fashionable owners of carriages will oppose the reform, as their cattle will not look quite so flash without the over-plated blinkers.

We were favoured with the following yesterday, but fear that "Infallible" has precious little chance of a letter from Dr. Syntax about the merits and demerits of roulette or any other form of gambling:—

Dear STANDARD,

"I see your correspondent at Mar del Plata in your paper of yesterday says in regard to 'Roulette.' The result of our study is the settled conviction that it is the greatest game for losing that has yet been invented." I beg to differ entirely from his conclusion, being convinced that it is the best game to make a fortune in a short time for those who adopt my invention regarding this play. I am willing to give him a proof of the truth of my statement in the presence of other gentlemen who feel interested, if he will correspond with me about place and time, to Casilla de Correo 1231.

Yours respectfully,

"Infallible."

We are glad to see that cold water and ice-cream are not to have it all their own cheerful way at Montevideo simply because some charitable ladies managed a week ago to hold a very successful racket without anybody dying from the effects of the water, the ice and the cream. The M. V. T. says:—"That 'awful example' is simply irrepressible. He proposes that as soon as the cold weather returns a 'Hot Grog Sociable' should be organised to compete with the 'Ice Cream Sociable' that was so successful recently. Whiskey Toddy, Steaming Punch, hot grog, egg flip, negus, mulled wine, wassail, and such like comforting compounds would be served out at the tables, whilst the musical programme would mainly consist of convivial ditties and drinking songs, the whole concluding with a grand chorus 'I always take sugar in mine.'"

It is to be feared that the Monarobists in Brazil have almost as tough a job before them as those harmless idiots the Jacobites at home, if they think of bringing about a Restoration by peaceable and Constitutional means. Empires are only made, maintained, and restored when lost, by vigorous doses of those two fine, patent medicines, blood and iron. Nevertheless, our English contemporary in the Fluminense capital says:—"We see that the recent monarchist movement in this country is termed 'plots' and 'conspiracies' in the Buenos Aires papers. There is no plot or conspiracy about it. The movement is like that of any other political party, and its purpose is to seek its object by legal methods."

The coming Athletic Sports at Montevideo will have two great attractions, Bicycle Races, handicaps, for 2000 and 5000 metres, Argentine competitors are as 'cordially invited' as if the Y.M.C.A. instead of the M.A.C. (only the difference of a miserable Y.) were the guests, and we hope that the coolness existing between our Athletic friends on different sides of the river will not prevent an acceptance of the invitation.

R H E N S

Every English subject and American citizen with his heart in the right place will heartily agree with the following remarks of our London insurance contemporary Review in reference to Life of N. York caricaturing our venerable Queen, who is revered and looked up to by even the uncivilized inhabitants of most of the globe:—"We presume that unconscious error is not necessarily rudeness; otherwise, if the American comic papers represent the American people, they would get up about one war a week without the least trouble. It is true that in the last issue of Life President Cleveland is represented in an intensely ridiculous and offensive way as 'Bombastes Furioso'; but Life this last week seems to be more British than usual. This may possibly be temporarily agreeable to ourselves, but it does not get over the initial difficulty referred to by us, which is that coarse caricature is not necessarily humorous. In the preceding number of Life, Her Majesty Queen Victoria, who should at least be secure against caricature of any sort, is represented in a highly ridiculous position on an American buggy. We might suggest to our American friends that the Queen of England, by her age, her many virtues, and by the distinguished and unique position she occupies, might at least be omitted from this class of illustration. Our friends are welcome to the British Lion and to John Bull. The tail of the British lion may be twisted in reality or in caricature, and we shall enjoy the fun as much as anybody. John Bull himself has been so maltreated in the past that the future can have no terrors for him. There is one person, however, that should be left outside the circus, and that is Her Majesty Queen Victoria. This as a suggestion."

Restaurant-keepers and jewellers are the most confiding and simple-minded of men, and, as such, are found the easiest of prey by the large predatory class who live by their wits at the expense of their fellow-beings who have none. A recent very amusing case in Paris is reported:—"Two impecunious schemers went boldly into a restaurant near the Place St. Georges, where M. Thiers used to live, and asked to be served with a dozen each of Marennes; a kind of oyster particularly esteemed in France. Just as he was swallowing the last one, one of the companions suddenly made a noise as though he was in pain. 'I nearly broke my tooth that time,' he said. 'Look it is a pearl out of the shell.' The other looked at the pearl apparently with eager interest. 'I claim that,' he said, 'because I was going to pay for the oysters.' 'Oh, no,' said the other, 'you gave that one to me.' Meanwhile the keeper of the restaurant was pricking up his ears, and he thought he would like to have the pearl in order to have it mounted and give it to his wife on her birthday. He offered to buy it, and finally it was agreed that he should let the men off the price of their meal if they would let him keep it. The same day he went to a jeweller's with it, and was told that it had never come out of an oyster at all. It was a imitation pearl, not worth a penny. The restaurant keeper has lodged a complaint with the police. He alleges that he was induced to open five dozen more of the oysters in the hope of finding more pearls."

We are sorry to say that we were in error yesterday in saying that our friend Mr. Boote lost little or nothing by the fire on his premises. Unfortunately for him, his cellar was not as empty as ours, as we were led to suppose, but was full of the valuable ingredients required for his extensive business, and these were all destroyed, as well as other general damage done. His loss is over $5,000 gold, but we are truly glad to hear that it is amply covered by insurance.

ON 'CHANGE.

Thursday, February, 13th 1896.
Gold Premium.

First Rise 211.80%
Second Rise 213.10%

After yesterday's very sharp fall a reaction was expected in the gold speculation this morning, and the rally came off, but in a half-hearted manner. The gold business was active enough, over one million dollars changing hands. The bulls had neither the courage nor the paper money to avail of the slight turn in the market to-day; there can be no doubt that they are played out—the old speculative horse is tired.

About four hundred thousand gold dollars were sold for cash; the premium opened at 211.20%, rose to 212.80%, and closed at 211.80%. A quarter of a million was sold for the end of the month; the premium opened at 214%, fell to 213%, and closed at 213.80%. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars were sold for the 15th inst. at cash rates. Business for the end of March embraced one hundred thousand dollars; the premium opened at 216 % and closed at 217.50%. Something was done for the end of April at 219% and for end of May at 221%. The market closed with a flat tendency.

It would be idle to dissemble the fact that in the market at large the sudden fall in gold is a great surprise. Many merchants are inclined to view the decline in the premium as an essentially speculative dodge, but it is a mistake to be too positive. The outside market has been hoarding gold for over a year, and it may very well happen that this very process now accounts for a fall in gold, as the market is glutted with specie and the banks know not what to do with all the gold that they hold. Add to this the fact that the rise in exchange must induce gold shipments from Europe, and we can to a great extent account for the bearish tendency of the premium.

Stocks and shares were dull. National Cedulas F were quoted steady at 80. La Plata Cedulas advanced to 17.50. Internal Bonds dropped gently to 74.50. De-positors' Bonds of the National Bank receded to 3.80.

Telegrams from Rio de Janeiro to-day reported a shade of improvement in exchange: the rate on London was quoted at 9 1/32d.

Mr. Gordon B. Ward, of the River Plate
Trust Loan Company, took leave to-day, to catch the Oropesa, Pacific packet, for a six months' trip to the old country. He has had a spell of 5 years' hard work, so that the vacation is well earned.

There is a bearish growl from Chileco,
the most active mining centre in the Republic, our Ballarat, over the news that the railway works will not be pushed ahead this year, which has put the industry into such a towering rage that they swear by the law and prophets they are going to close up the smelting works. A little patience, gentlemen. The line has to come, and come soon, whilst its cost is relatively low in comparison with its importance.

The worthy farmers of Chilico are howling with indignation. They say that the railway company has imposed a most unrighteous tax on the cereals deposited on the line awaiting transport, contending that it is all the more unjustifiable in that it is the lack of rolling stock that causes the delay. The other side now will have its say. The Banco de la Nacion's bravach is doing a splendid business: $250,000 discounted since beginning of year, and bills in Buenos Aires sold to value of $380,000.

In Neococha crowd of city-tollers arrive for the bathing season. Weather splendid. But camps are beginning to languish for want of water.

The Inspector of live-stock was not in even passable humour yesterday, as he incontinently turned away a batch of 216 wethers because some were scabby. This is "prima facie" confirmation of what the exporters complain of, namely, that they are at the Inspector's mercy, so that with very substantial reason the trade refuses to receive on the estancia animals that show the slightest symptoms, old or recent, of the vile scourge.

At Barracas the wheat is panning out wonderfully well, both as regards quality, weight and cleanliness. The average yield shows 12 to 13 quintals the square, running to as high as 18 and 20 on some farms, which is very satisfactory, especially as the linseed crop, from the frost, gave a very poor return indeed.

Our bucolic contemporary La Agricultura is getting so full of news that the usual is crowding out the picturesque, or in other words the camp advices have taken the place of the illustrations. Perhaps our colleague's artist is sick, or in Mar del Plata. This week's edition is very deficient in the "highly coloured" section as the London newsboy calls it, but otherwise is very complete.

Parana advices report heavy rains in that district, and crops in splendid order, but commerce almost paralysed owing to alleged high railway freights, a gentle hint to the company to use what is termed by the disciples of Figaro as a feather hand. Feathers and freights somehow do not look well together, because, it may be, we are not accustomed to so seeing them.

The province of Salta since the break in the drought, which has been thorough, is coming round again, but the camps are swarming with locusts. The Chambers have not yet pared and pruned the ways and means for 1896, and until they do so those for 1895 will be kept going.

In Mendoza the rains have also been abundant and badly wanted. Business in grapes is brisk since the reduction in the railway tariff. The Puente Inca baths are crowded, three families to a house, like the six-in-a-bed of Dostoevsky's Hall. The mortality from diphtheria, which had been alarming has decreased appreciably under treatment with the Roux lymph.

Telegrams from Chile state that the financial situation in that republic is becoming unbearable. None of the banks in Valparaiso or Santiago will discount a dollar, and all credits have been cut off. The strange part of the situation is that public opinion lays the blame of the evil on the unfortunate conversion law of the Government. Some papers cast eyes on Argentina and trumpet her up as an example to be followed; we should not advise Chile to do anything of the kind. Chile will always get on better with specie payments at 18d. than with inconvertible currency.

The gold market was dull, but firm at the second ring, about three hundred thousand gold dollars changing hands. The premium for to-morrow opened at 211 1/4 % and closed at 213 1/4 %—a very sharp rise. The premium for end of February closed at 216 %—a contango of 3 points. In fact, there was a flare-up in the market this evening, and the rumour ran round that there was a Pax Mita Cabinet Council in the Government House.

The following is a summary of the operations effected to-day at the second ring:—
$ 22,000 February 14th at 311.50-311.20-311.20-30-30-30-30-312
$ 62,000 February 29th at 313-313.50-314-315-316

We call the attention of estancieros in general to advertisement in another column announcing the Rural Show at Ayacucho fixed for 22nd and 23rd inst. This Fair is always one of the most successful of the whole catalogue, and as the committee have spared no effort to give it due publicity, it is not likely to be over before the public knows it is on, nor to show attractive returns of $11,000 for sales realized, as has happened at Lobos. The local rural associations in this latter district have evidently mistaken their vocation altogether; they were cut out for a secret conspiracy. Manufacturers, estancieros and farmers are all invited to send exhibits to the Ayacucho Fair, to direct their requests for space to the Treasurer, Mr. Antonio P. Sens.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

The depression in the gold market threw a damper on all business in our produce centres. Consignatarios look at gold flapping about from one side to the other and are not able to form a basis on which to work on.

Wool for export! The arrivals to-day were over 800,000 kilos! As regards the sales, we refrain from offering any opinion on the amount, some say this and others say that. From what we heard operations were rather slack, this morning. This strikes one as strange, as the telegrams from Europe show a decided tendency towards a rise.

All cereals on hand find easy outlet; the consuno for wheat pays prices that startle exporters, to-day for several parcels $3.90 was paid and for middling $2.20. The French corn is the most in demand leaving little outlet for other classes. Prices are well sustained notwithstanding the heavy arrivals, to-day in one of our markets 10,000 bags were received. Maize is well sought for, but our stock is so limited that it drives up prices in spite of the fall in gold.

The following is the conclusion of what we published from the South American Journal in our last:—

"There is in this town more depleted assortments and stocks of super, particularly of firsts and seconds, than has been previously for a long time, and it is expected that Yorkshire will manifest more than usual interest in good morinos at the present series of London sales than it has done of late. This is an encouraging current feature of the general wool business in this town, and the interest of users of this stock in its continued consumption in yarns, and in the possible scarceness of it, and the present market value of it, has been sufficient to produce a very fair inquiry for it, and some business as a consequence has developed. All crossbreds still hold on their way fairly satisfactorily both English and Colonial, and only let present complications get more cleared, a good trade is looked for. Mohair keeps still quiet, but very steady at 26d still for Cape. Yarn spinners are still hard at it, while piece good manufacturers complain of no shortage of orders and work. American matters are just a shade better."

The arrivals at the Corrales from 16th to 31st January were as follows:—

There is a brisk business in wheat in Rosario and firm prices. Two thousand tons of wheat were sold yesterday, part to be delivered at once and the rest during the current month, prices ranging between $7.10 and 7.25. One special lot of 1500 bags fetched 7.25 and another sold at the same price to be delivered during the month of February. The greater part of the sales were closed at 7.20, which may be taken as the market price. Average class grain is taken up at $7.10. There is a decided firmness in the market. As freights have fallen, buyers can afford to pay a higher price for wheat. There is little or nothing to say about maize, superior class fetching $3.15. But prices which are paid for the special "consumo" in the town cannot be accepted as current ones. The stock of linseed leaves much to be desired as regards quality, consequently sales are very few and far between. Exporters will only take the best of the pick, for which they pay from 9.90 to 10. Flour is firm, there being a slight rising tendency in prices. No important transaction are reported.

The arrivals of cereals in Montevideo and beginning to shake the previous prices. As the principal millers have sufficient stock on hand they did not enter the markets to-day. Prices have fallen 10 cents as will be seen in the following sales: 1200 bags from Canelones from 2.40 to 2.50, the other sales comprised 7,300 bags from 2.30 to 2.60.

Very few operations were made in maize, the largest sale recorded was 2500 bags of maize for export at 1 dollar and 100 do middling at 85 cents.

We hear that there are several sales on hand for salted hides, but up to the last hour nothing definite was known. The telegrams from Antwerp tell us that the salted hides from Messrs Santanarina and Co. of 20 and 25 kilos were sold at 53 fms. Messrs Puppo and Ayala have sold from 15 to 16,000 salted hides at a reserve price, amongst them there were some 10,000 cowhides, which brought down the price considerably.

The good wool news from Europe keeps the "artists" on the spur, several large sales of importance were reported to-day, but prices and conditions were kept secret. The following were the reported sales: 6000 kilos from Minas at 2.40, 5000 do from Nico Perez at 2.35; other sales amounted to about 16500 kilos at more or less the same prices.

"The bright, moving picture of the country's trade, commerce and production on the opening year consoles us with the conviction that its future is superior to any error and independent of individual influence."

"The above lines, quoted from THE STANDARD of 3rd inst., are the true expression of our sentiments respecting the present position and expected future of the country, if we are to judge from what has occurred to us, as a minute fraction in its common wealth, during the year, the last, and the hopeful advent of the new one on which we have entered."

"If we take our branch of trade, and instance our business in particular, we have to admit that the prospects as regards the country at large are not at all exaggerated in the transcript we have made of us, as the increase in our concern has been beyond our most sanguine expectations during the old year, and, on the eve of the new one, promise is given of a very satisfactory augmentation."

"To keep pace, therefore, with this hopeful state of affairs we have made ample provision, and our stock, which is always kept in adequate supply, will be periodically increased with every novelty to meet the increasing requirements of the year."

RIVER STEAMERS.

The steamers Eolo and Golondrina will arrive to-morrow at the South Basin from Montevideo; Eolo will leave in the afternoon for the same port.

The Cosmos, which recently met with an accident near Salto, arrived to-day and continued her voyage to Montevideo where she is to undergo repairs in the Cibils dock. A big hole has been knocked in her hull presumably by a sunken anchor.

GENERAL.

The report made by the Sanitary Authorities on the cause of the sickness on board the 9 de Julio, lays the blame on the water-tanks and the difficulty of cleaning them properly. Something was also said about the fever having been taken on board in the first instance—a statement to our mind opposed to the laws of medicine, since, if we mistake not, typhoid fever can never be infectious. In other words if two men in the same house are attacked by typhoid fever, they must have both drunk impure water or both have breathed noxious air.

Dr. Ramos Mejia insists on the necessity of providing the fleet with filters. It is by some thought extremely improbable that the fleet will return to New Guilt—why we cannot say. No Carnival jinks are to be allowed, as not a soul is to land.

Captain Barletti is reported to have told Mr. Villanueva, the Minister of Marine, that his reason for returning so suddenly was that the 5 surgeons on board all insisted that it was necessary to at once come back, on view of the alarming number of cases of fever on board the 9 de Julio. It is at any rate certain that all five medical men have been placed under arrest on the charge of issuing alarming reports not justified by the circumstances.

The official returns of the health in Rio during January give the deaths from yellow fever as 510 out of a total of 2150, but as another 205 are reported to have died of "other fevers" it may shrewdly be presumed that at least 700 actually occurred from yellow fever. These returns have not been made public in the Brazilian Capital and do not support the statement enunciated not so very long ago by the Brazilian Minister here, to the effect that yellow fever did not exist in that City.

The Re Umberto arrived to-day from Naples, Genoa, Rio and Santos, with upwards of 1400 passengers. During the voyage 290 cases of illness occurred 55 were fatal. Of these all but 2 succumbed before arriving in the Bay of Rio. The majority of the deaths were amongst the children and were caused by measles.

The 2 yellow fever patients on board the floating hospital are going on well.

The case of illness on board the Boston City turns out to be of an ordinary nature and the vessel was consequently today granted free pratique.

The Canadian left to-day in quarantine for Montevideo.

The Arara did not after all leave to-day for the La Plata port.

Bills of Health were to-day issued to the Italia for Mersilliers, Europa for Para, Freda for Rio, and Britannia for Antwerp.
